"Finding Healing in God's Backyard: Student Edition": a guide to the medicinal and educational properties of essential oils. "Finding Healing in God's Backyard: Student Edition" is the creation of published author, Jessica Linhart. Linhart is a wife and mother of three who holds a MA in Special Education. She resides on a small family farm in Elkview, West Virginia. She is a great ponderer and enthusiastic speaker who participates in small-group ministries. She teaches Sunday school and serves as the director of food ministries at Silas Gospel Tabernacle in Charleston West Virginia.

Jessica is passionate about finding ways to reach people. In this book, she identifies God's medicine (essential oils), explains the use of essential oils in accordance with biblical meanings, and offers recipes for today's world. She understands the United States medical field and wants to seek those who are sick or ill and those who don't know Christ before he returns.

Published by Christian Faith Publishing, Jessica Linhart's new book reveals the medicinal and educational properties of essential oils.
